

Classification of Animal Types

Animals are grouped by the similar characteristics. The basic classification is between vertebrates and invertebrates. This classification is further broken down into groups.

◀ Mammal